NUMBER 21.

Regular Council Meeting Held Tuesday

The Town Council met in a lengthy session Tuesday night, which lasted until 1 a. m. All Councilmen were present, also the Secretary and the Engineer. After the reading of the minutes, Ray Knight was talked with, respecting the giving to the Town of the right of way for the present road along the C. P. R. right of way in exchange for certain unused streets adjacent to his property. This was agreed upon, and the exchange also includes another ten feet of road which will make this piece wide enough for any traffic.

As a new grader was needed for the Town, Mr. Macleod of the Adams Road Machinery Co. was present and showed the Council pictures and specifications of a number of their units for Municipal work. The Council thanked Mr. Macleod for his time, but felt that it was too late this summer to make any purchases and tabled the matter for future consideration.

An old age pension was passed, the Chairman of Relief was instructed to assist in getting a local boy to a school for special training and the pay roll was passed and ordered paid; the reports were also accepted.

The destruction of property by boys with .22 rifles and BB guns was talked over and it was the sentiment of the Council that if it were necessary, in the interests of the people of the Town that every gun in the town be confiscated. The disrespect for hours in watering of gardens and lawns was also discussed and the Engineer instructed to start suit against anyone who watered lawns and gardens out of hours or who used water for this purpose without paying for it.

The novel is a study of the conflict between labor and capital.

RAIN HALTS DECORATION DAY PLANS

Because of the rain on Sunday the program and decoration day plans were spoiled. It was hoped at first to postpone it to a later date, but with so many things on at present, the Committee feel that no attempt at a public program and general day for this purpose would be a failure and so it is suggested that citizens act on their own volition and take their flowers out to the cemetery and do their decorating at their own convenience.

It is regrettable that the rain spoiled the well laid plans, and the Committee desire to thank all who so willingly co-operated in bringing the day so near to a successful finish, halted only by the storm.

THANKSGIVING DAY IS SET FOR OCTOBER 10th

Thanksgiving Day in Canada will be celebrated on Monday October 10th this year, a proclamation fixing that date having been published in the Canada Gazette.

SWIMMING FINALS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Readers are reminded of the Provincial Swimming Finals, ten events or more, and exhibitions in diving, life-saving, etc., which will be held at the local Swimming Pool next Wednesday afternoon, commencing at 2:30. The meet is sponsored by the local Rotary Club and members of the Penguin and Tarpon Club of Lethbridge, with Mrs. E. Borgal in charge, will be here in large numbers to take charge of the meet and have the arrangements in charge.

NEWS NOTES

If you have a house for rent or are looking for one, a want ad, in the Recorder will help you find what you want. They are economical and effective.

A shower Thursday just before noon tied up combines and binders for the rest of the day and more rain Thursday night will likely keep them silent all day today.

The hail storm which hit the area in and around Foremost Thursday evening of last week is estimated to have hailed out to quite an extent 5,000 acres of crop, almost ready for harvest. Our yield may not be so large as anticipated if these hail storms continue.

The home coming exercises of the First Ward Primary under the direction of Mrs. C. R. Wing, the President were held last Thursday in the Opera House, after a parade on Broad way with all the children in costume. Numbers from each class were featured and also a march around a huge birthday cake, celebrating 60 years of Primary work since it was started by Mrs. Aurelia Rogers.

A practice that may reduce the sales of bigger trucks is the fitting of grain boxes to the runabouts. Built with a deep box, which will hold forty bushels of grain or more, farmers put another box on top of them and haul about 100 bushels per trip, which is a good load for short hauls, and when harvest is over the high box is removed and farmers have a useful and handy runabout which is very economical in operation compared to the big trucks.

Swimming Regala Great Success

With the rain coming on at thoughts of swimming flies and we think we would feel better in a winter coat rather than a swimming suit. The swimming gaze was a huge success. The sky that had been so cloudy in the morning cleared and the sun began to shine as if it were pleased with what was going on. A big crowd was there and everybody was thrilled with the events and the keen competition, and the style with which our young swimmers swam.

The writer of this article feels proud of the boys and girls and of the fine spirit of sportsmanship that was shown. The thrills we received and the enthusiasm of the crowd will be long remembered. This is just the beginning of what Raymond is going to do for our young people. The events went off in grand style. Lee Brewerton was the official announcer with Arnold Zabriskie starter. Judges and Timekeepers were J.W. Evans, L. D. King, Loren Larson, Reed Kirkham and Myron Holmes. Frank Taylor was very efficient in recording events and keeping track of the time. J. O. Hicken handed the prizes in fine style.

The beginners race was swam off bringing Sammy Tolstrup 1st, Buddy Wood 2nd & Johnny Redd 3rd. Allen Wilbeck tied for 3rd place. Sammy better watch Buddy next year or he'll be right up in the front.

The girls beginners was worthwhile. Jean Kitchin 1st, Myra Dahl 2nd, and Peggy Card 3rd. Peggy made a fine swim and has what it takes to watch her step next year.

School girls race. Joan Zabriskie 1st, Norma Redd 2nd and Rachel Romeril 3rd, all made a good swim. Norma rather surprised us the leaving Alma behind these 3 girls are heading for future championships.

Schoolboy races, Teddy Allen 1st Billy Zabriskie 2nd and Lloyd Jensen 3rd. They all made fine swims and are close contestants.

75 yard Ladies championship. Edna Anderson 1st Dorothy Jensen 2nd and Jean Grey 3rd. Edna had the lead from the start and took her time winning easily over the others.

50 yard championship boys. Gordon Anderson 1st Harlan Taylor 2nd and Bert Leavitt 3rd. This was indeed a real thrill from the start, it was touch and go all the way and while the crowd cheered and hollered Gordon and Harlan fought it out; Gordon winning by a touch. Bert was a very close 3rd and with practice could give them back a run for 1st.

Then came the Junior championship of Raymond. Louise Allen 1st, Hazel Redd 2nd and Dorothy Jensen 3rd. If only Hazel could have had the reach that Louise had I hesitate to say just what would have happened. It was a real thrill to watch them. We admire Dorothy pluck in entering two races and being such a good loser, she came out smiling.

The next race was the 75 yard boys intermediate, Robert Wood 1st Verle Meldrum 2nd and Bob McMullin 3rd. These boys hid for a long time and would not come out but finally we coaxed them out and they put on a keen fight for 1st place. After the races were over we couldn't keep them out of the water or off the diving board all they needed was a little coaxing.

The big event of the afternoon the 100 yard championship of Raymond was a thrill all by itself. The boys got off to a good start and Curly Sloan gained the lead on the second lap and retired it to the end. Bill Nalder was close behind and came in with a fine sprint that is worthy of mention. Bert Boyson came third with Eldon Garner a very close runner up. Their style was fine and they certainly gave us a thrill.

Novelty races followed and to see the boys and girls diving for fishes one would think they had dived in the sea themselves.

The cock fight was the climax to a real afternoon entertainment. David Wing sure did put the rest of the cocks to rest in the water and everybody cheered and clapped when he came out the winner. His helpmate Bert Boyson certainly deserves credit for being able to hold his own in the water.

The girls ten fight told the tale Freda Lafferty and Joan Zabriskie held their own valiantly and came out victorious. A free for all was enjoyed, a display of diving was given and everybody went home happy.

This ended the first Raymond Swimming Regala and next week we shall be glad to be with you at the finals of the Southern Alberta Swimming Meet.

W. C. Smith, District Weed Inspector has his work about finished and will be returning to his home near Edmonton the last of the week.

Mr. R. J. Hood of Edmonton, sister of Seymour Follis has been visiting here for a few days.

Miss Bessie Hancock and Phil Helgerson were the lucky winners in the ice cream contest at the Sugar Bowl this week.

Clifford Dahl has the excavating done and the forms in for his new home and just as soon as the harvest rush is over the erection of the home will be pushed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Jacobs are home again after spending the summer in Edmonton where Lyman attended University. They were busy Thursday afternoon lining up a house for the coming school term.

T. K. Roberts started work this week on a fine new home for Gordon Rasmussen on the Geo. T. Wride farm south and west of town. Howard and Gordon have purchased this section of land and are working it now.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. O'Brien are moving to Layton, Utah, where we understand John has employment, and where it is hoped the climate will benefit his wife's health which has not been good for some time. They are selling their furniture and John has resigned his position in the Canadian Sugar Factories Office.

If you are interested in a new Portable Typewriter we suggest that you investigate the drastic reductions in prices on the 1938 line of Remington Rand Portables in five different styles. These machines are guaranteed and the finest machine made. However, they must be moved to make room for the 1939 models, and as dealers we are authorized to give reductions on the 1938 models that are really worthwhile. COME IN.

We congratulate the Provincial Department of Public Works on the surfaced highway between Pincher Creek and Waterton after its blottering. We should have many more miles of surfaced road than we have as an invitation to tourists to see the beauties of Canada and her mountains. Admitting the high cost of surfaced roads and all the rest of it, in our opinion it would be one of the best investments the Province could make and in a few years the gasoline tax alone would refund all the outlay.

Rain, rain, go away, come again some other day, will be the cry of farmers if the rain continues much longer. Starting last Saturday night, 1.25 inches of moisture fell between then and Sunday night, and tied up harvesting until Wednesday. Then Thursday forenoon about 11 a.m. another heavy shower arrived which stopped harvesting for the rest of the day, and Thursday night another quarter of an inch of water fell which stopped combines for the rest of the week, and even binders will not be able to work before Saturday noon. The weather turned quite cool, too, with Thursday night's storm.

Beets will benefit greatly by the storm, as will the third crop of alfalfa which given a few days bright sunshine now will make a good stand and should be ready for cutting in about ten days time. Unless the stormy spell is unusually long no damage will be done to the grain, and weight will be added to the fields not yet cut. While no outstanding yields have been reported, all fields are producing a good average cut turn, and all the grain is grading high, most of it No. 1 and over weight.

Elevator men, machine agents and car and truck salesmen are all busy and it is unusual these days to see any local men around looking for a job. The harvest has absorbed just about all the local unemployed.

"We sure want this to be an annual affair, Dorothy is surely to be congratulated for such a splendid afternoon."

"This should encourage our children to want to swim."

"Visitors to the Regala had a succession of thrills. First the clear water and cleanliness around the Pool brought these remarks."

The Town put several hundred dollars into the cost of the Pool one of the most worth while investments the taxpayers ever made."

AN APPEAL TO PARENTS

There is a bad habit growing amongst the boys of the town to make targets for the .22 rifles and BB guns out of grave markers at the cemetery, insulators on telephone and electric light poles, bulbs on street lights, locks on gates and other similar articles. This causes a great loss in money every year for the Town, the Calgary Power Co., people who try to keep graves in good repair and others with property where they cannot watch it all the time.

The financial loss is the smallest of the hazards, however, created by these thoughtless youngsters. Were they to kill someone, or shoot an eye out of some of their friends or pals they would carry a burden of remorse and regret for the remainder of their lives, and unless this practice is stopped some serious accident is bound to happen it just simply can't help it. No one wants to curb the enjoyment of the boys, and most people will agree that it is a fine thing for boys to know how to handle a gun. But, when boys shoot from basement windows right here in town, shoot the locks off gates, and shoot out colored lights on the streets and big bulbs at the Swimming Pool and other public places, these boys do not know how to handle a gun, let alone a .22 rifle, and their guns should be taken away until they learn how to use a gun and that they are not for the wilful destruction of private and public property, but for the protection of life and the destruction of pests and vermin that annoy people.

To merely give a boy a gun and turn him loose with it is to invite disaster. Dad, or someone who knows the danger of glancing bullets, bullets penetrating and travelling on, and the striking power of a missile from a gun, should go out with Buddy and teach him the danger of these things, and that he should always look before shooting and be sure that no dwelling, animal or person is in the possible line of fire of his gun, and that no rock or other object will cause the missile to ricochet or come back and hurt those standing near the one who is doing the shooting.

It is within the law to confiscate every firearm of any description and to hold them until police are satisfied that owners are capable of caring for them in such a manner that they will not create a nuisance. The Town Council hope it will not be necessary to confiscate within the town, and so have asked that we appeal to parent and guardians for their support and assistance in getting the boys to show proper respect for the rights and privileges of others and thus avoid any ill feeling through one police officials being forced to confiscate and hold these firearms. The boys, nor parents either would like this.

Now parents, after you have got over cussing about these suggestions, put yourself in the position of some citizens of the Town who have renewed the glass in their grave markers four times a year, only to go out again and find it shot out. Can't we teach the boys to have some little respect for the dead and the consecrated piece of ground where they are laid. Or visualize yourself digging up the money to pay for the broken light bulbs and insulators that the Town and Power Co. have to dig up for each month. And so we could go on.

Through co-operation of parents and the boys, these practices can be controlled without anyone feeling put out. Personally we feel that any boy who knows how to handle a gun, will not participate in these destructive practices, and if these are the pranks of boys who don't know how to handle a gun, then the sooner their guns are taken away from them, the better for all concerned.

TWO - TOOTERS

Two-tooters are increasing in number. So are the casualties. Two-tooters are the motorists who have the idea that two toots of the horn by them cancel any signals given by others. Thus, if one who has the right of way because he's in front repeatedly signals that he's about to make a left turn, the two-tooter simply gives two short blasts and tries to continue on his merry way. Frequently all he does is try, because many times he tests his brakes to the limit, and all too often he crashes.

The two-tooter often is a new driver who has learned by ear. It is amazing to those who inquire to learn how many two-tooters think they have the legal right to make others change courses simply by a couple of short shrieks. One cause of difficulty is that there are many other drivers who have to make time to hold their jobs who sometimes think they are just as much entitled to the road as those who are in a hurry to get to a cocktail party.

Another practice that is approaching a custom is cutting corners. This works fairly well now. This works fairly well where the cut is into a thin stream of gravel, but not so well into arterial highways where there is the possibility of meeting another road pest the light-beater. The "corner-cutter" who just grazes the first car in a stopped line, is always taking the chance of busting into a "light-beater," all too frequently a truck driver, trying to get at the head of a second, even a third line.

It isn't a bad idea for motorists to refresh their knowledge of the driving laws of the state in which they are licensed or to learn what the regulations are in the states they intend to visit. Nor is it a bad idea to think of the other drivers and what they are liable to do.

INTERESTING ADVERTISEMENTS

Nothing perhaps has so universal an appeal to newspaper readers—which is to say every literate person from ten to one hundred—as the advertisements. Nor is this said in a spirit of disparagement of the other contents of the Recorder. A newspaper's primary function is to print the news. There was a time in the past when little else appeared in any newspaper. Advertisements were few and small, features of all kinds were still to be an innovation of the future.

But while one member of the family is most interested in the chronicles of local happenings, another in the news of sports events, another in the editorials, and still another in a feature or two all read the advertisements. Reading the advertisements has become as much a habit with moderns as eating three meals a day.

Eating can be an expensive habit, however, while reading the announcements of business concerns is a thrifty habit. The advertisers who deliver their message through the columns of this newspaper regularly, week after week, are reliable firms with which to deal. They are intensely interested in building customer good-will, which is why they advertise. Ninety-nine per cent of the risk has been eliminated from any transaction when you deal with a regular advertiser.

YOUNGER WOMEN

An authority on hygiene and physical development is author of the statement that women are younger today at 40 than ever and, at all ages, are healthier than the women of preceding generations.

A generation ago the average woman of 40 was an old lady who wore a shawl across her shoulders while she sat by the fire and crocheted. She was well past the prime of life and "all tired out."

Today the woman of 40 looks 30, plays golf and tennis and drives an automobile during the day and dances or plays cards far into the night, and then is down first to breakfast in the morning fresh and ready for another day which would have been a killing pace in grandmother's day.

One of the causes of this extraordinary healthfulness of the modern woman is the development of her clothing. She no longer wraps herself up like an Egyptian mummy or loads herself down with pounds of heavy and superfluous raiment.

But hasn't woman's attitude toward herself contributed much to her transformation? Though a mother of seven she can now dance, swim, go in for the sports and driving, and dress youthfully without fear of social ostracism. No longer is the "respectable" woman's condition in life just two degrees removed from the absolute imprisonment of the harem.

HOW ARE YOU

If the subject of conversation is an indication of interest in the subject, then, without doubt health comes first in the public interest, since the question most frequently asked is—How Are You?

pleasant for yourself and for those with whom you live and work, because you are happy with the joy of good health, or are you one of those depressing persons who demands sympathy because he looks so miserable

It is surprising how much of ill-health is due to neglect of those essentials which can easily be secured by most people and which do not cost money. The proper kind of food costs no more than the wrong kind. Fresh air and sunshine are to be had for the asking. Sleep is not for sale; it means a proper bedtime. Exercise, rest and cleanliness can usually be secured by making a reasonable effort.

These are the factors upon which personal health so largely depends. They are under our own control; nobody can help us very much in securing them. If we want to enjoy good health, we cannot neglect them.

Too many late dances which take up the time for sleep; too much living in artificial light and not enough sunlight; too many sweets between meals spoiling the appetite for proper food; indoor parties instead of outdoor exercises are some of the common reasons for ill health.

In addition to neglecting themselves, many persons are in other ways, particularly careless as regards the health of others. They cough and sneeze without covering the nose and mouth; they talk right into your face; they kiss the baby on the mouth. In fact they do about everything they can to spread to everyone else the chance to meet any disease germs which may be present in their own nose and throat.

Many are also careless of themselves in disregarding the limits within which they may expect their bodies to function normally. The human body can stand up under a great deal of wear and tear, but, beyond certain limits, it begins to break. It is a matter of common sense to keep within the limits. Success is empty which is gained at the expense of a wrecked body. Health

EXPERIMENTAL STATION LETHBRIDGE

WEEKLY LETTER

PREPARING VEGETABLE EXHIBITS

The lack of proper preparation of vegetables for exhibit at the country and school fairs during the fall season has been so much in evidence during past years that the writer, who has judged at many such fairs, feels it timely to offer suggestions which may be of help to the prospective exhibitor. The scope of this article is much too limited, however, to make detailed suggestions on the preparation of the individual vegetables and therefore a general outline only will be attempted.

The uniformity of any exhibit is of prime importance. The vegetables in an exhibit should be similar in size and shape. Too many exhibitors fail, owing to the lack of uniformity in their entry.

Each specimen should be fresh, firm, smooth and free from blemish. Nothing wilted, soft, spongy or decayed should be entered for an exhibit.

Weight is taken into consideration when cabbage, melons, squash, pumpkins, onions and citrons are judged. While coarseness is always to be avoided, the heavier specimens are invariably placed first by the judges.

The size which certain vegetables should be to obtain first place is a much debated point. Many exhibitors give preference to large size rather than to quality. Invariably large size does not denote quality. Medium size in most cases is usually chosen.

Skin color distinctions are often important in vegetables for exhibit. In general the deeper shades are preferable to the lighter shades, but the color must always be typical of the variety. For instance, deep yellow carrots are preferable to light yellow. Dark red beets are more desirable than the lighter colored. Pure white cauliflower is ranked higher than ivory or cream colored. Dark green spinach and parsley are preferred to light green.

The vegetables should be as free as possible from disease, insect injury, growth cracks, discolorations and any abnormal or deformed growth. Among the root vegetables in particular it should be pointed out that side roots and flesh discolorations are very objectionable. The white rings in beets should be as small as possible or entirely absent. A small core is highly desirable in carrots.

A proper balance is of utmost importance in the preparation of collections of vegetables. Every kind or variety should be conspicuous and stand out from its neighbor. This is often helped considerably by choosing similar containers in which has been placed the green tops of mature asparagus. Crepe paper, of a color which blends with the general color scheme, also helps materially to make the exhibit pleasing to the eye.

Our Edmonton Letter

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 16.—Strenuous official denials of impending cabinet changes, persistent declarations by well-informed persons that such changes are imminent unless the whole present Aberhart government resigns, and the spectacle of a Premier deliberately suggesting and urging that the people refuse to pay their debts were among features last week in the Alberta political scene. Developments which were considered at the capital to have paved the way for startling action soon.

If Premier Aberhart was sincere when he said that absolute harmony exists among members of his government and among private members of the Social Credit caucus, then there are other people who know more than he does about what has been going on in his own Social Credit party, it was declared by that theory, the newspaperman who wrote for the Calgary Albertan the story which the Premier alone has been so busy denying, is one of the people closer to the development, than is Premier Aberhart himself.

The friction among Social Credit members has been a subject of discussion among certain people around the Legislative buildings here for three weeks. As on previous occasions, that friction may be smoothed by the members' fear that the Premier may carry out a threat to dissolve the legislature—and those members fear that not many of them would be re-elected to their seats in the Legislature. On the other hand, if the members in the present undercover insurgency feel that they have sufficient strength, they may force the issue on Premier Aberhart in the next two or three weeks.

One thing is definite. It is that there is a Social Credit group of members, the number not definitely known, who are afraid that Premier Aberhart's course of action and inaction now will mean the death of the party if it is allowed to continue. Most of that group want to oust Premier Aberhart and certain members of his cabinet, all together. Knowing that "social credit" as an economic theory is an impossibility, some of them want to confess it openly to the electorate, chart a new course which will set the province on the way to recovery, and restore some of the prestige of the Social Credit party.

A refunding operation which would restore Alberta's credit and yet establish reduced interest rates is among the plans of that group. Renunciation of the Social Credit theory and of default would be among the conditions laid down.

Preparing for the celebration next Monday of the third anniversary of the election which hoisted them into power on the crest of a wave of lavish promises to the people, the Social Credit members are busy this week figuring out something about which they can talk safely. A few days ago Hon. E. C. Manning said that a "Social Credit plan" would be announced in the next few weeks. The words he used were practically identical with those he used in 1935, 1936 and 1937.

The Premier's tactics in urging Alberta people, instead of paying their debts or signing new agreements with the reductions offered by creditor companies last week, to take advantage of his government's recipe for repudiating obligations was astonishing to honest Albertans. It was regarded as his effort to retain or regain his hold on voters by keeping them dependent on provincial debt legislation.

But his proposition evidently was scorned by most of the people whom he hoped to intrigue, mortgage companies reported that 90 per cent of their clients were taking honest advantage of new agreements offered them, with slashed interest rates. Those new contracts with debtors were arranged by the companies after repeated efforts to arrange a province-wide general agreement on debt reduction had been waved aside by the government.

It was suggested here that reasons for the Premier's overtures for a grip on the electorate may have included discovery that all is not harmony in the party, that his following now constitutes only a minority in the province (having shrunk from the 51 per cent recorded at the polls in 1935) and that some show of an effort at debt reduction is his only lacking point now.

High interest was shown in the suggestion made the editor of the Mayville Mirror, which was that since the net wheat price this year is going to be only half of what it was last year, and that under present valuation the Premier is drawing a yearly salary equal to 20,000 bushels of grain, it is up to him and his ministers to gauge their own "grab" by the value of the chief product—wheat—and take less of it for themselves.

es. But Mr. Aberhart gave no sign of being interested in that suggestion.

Speaking at High River, in the Premier's own constituency, Liberal Leader E. L. Gray announced that the next provincial election, whenever it is held, every constituency will have a Liberal candidate "or an ally." He added that "some may not be simon-pure Liberals according to the standards of 20 years ago, but all will be the best men or women available who will support our policies and who can be nominated in a democratic way." Later in his speech he said: "We are not fighting anyone who desires a good decent business-like government in this province. On the contrary, we are asking for their assistance; we are offering to work with them and suggesting that they work with us. . . . There is only one hope of a solution of our problems, and that is a government formed by business men and farmers and labor leaders chosen from all ranks of past political thought, not chosen from one line of political thought."

Two more constituencies in Southern Alberta took definite stands on Wednesday, August 10, in favor of the Unity Movement as advocated by the Provincial Unity Council, headed by John I. McFarland, Calgary.

At Bassano accredited delegates, elected previously by residents in polling subdivisions of the Bow Valley Constituency, created the Bow Valley Unity Association, and elected Dr. A. G. Scott, pioneer physician and well known as the "Flying Physician" was named provisional chairman. E. Christensen, Chancellor farmer, was elected as acting vice-chairman, and William McLaws, Bassano, Secretary-Treasurer. Nine acting directors distributed throughout the district. The delegates met Wednesday, October 26th, as the date for a general meeting, at which permanent officers will be named, along with a representative

The Constituency of Cochrane, one of the oldest ranching and farming districts in the province, was well represented at a meeting in Calgary. Howard P. Wright, internally-known seed grower of Airdrie, was the choice of the Cochrane people for the office of chairman of the New Unity Body, and a full slate of 15 directors were elected. The Cochrane Unity Association unanimously named Frank Collicutt, pioneer rancher and Hereford cattle breeder as their choice on Mr. McFarland's Unity Council. Mr. Collicutt has been unofficially representing the constituency on the temporary Unity Council since the inception of the Movement.

The Town officials and Rotarians desire to thank all those who assisted in the staging of the Swimming Regla on Wednesday afternoon. The citizens who acted in the various official capacities, the boys and girls, young and old who participated in the events, and to Miss Dorothy Nurse whose suggestion started the ball rolling which resulted in the staging of what everyone seems to think is an event well worth continuing each year.
